Contractor Claims He Paid Dale One Per Cent Labor Cost on Contract

Cap Stephens Says He Paid Cash After Check Refused

EAST ST. LOUIS — A cement contractor testified today he paid Evan R. Dale, southern Illinois boss of AFL laborers, one per cent of the labor cost of the work his firm did on the Joppa electrical plant.

Edgar N. (Cap) Stephens of Cairo, Ill., said he paid the money in cash after Dale refused a check for $2,916.02 in Oct., 1952, and after Dale had told him "we need some money."

He said Dale previously had told him he was instrumental in securing the sub-contract and that it was customary to pay off on one per cent.

The contractor said the rejected check and the accepted cash amounted to one per cent of cost of labor on a railroad spur at the Joppa plant.

WILDLIFE IN COTTAGE: Were any of you guys out hitchhiking on Route 13 in Cottage township the other night?

If you were, go look in a mirror.

Dave Leverette was telling me a couple of days ago that his son, Calvin, and Bill Brown of Harrisburg were driving along at night this week on Route 13 in Cottage and in the lights ahead they saw something strange.

"They stopped and nearby was a monkey standing by the road," Mr. Leverette said. "They just sat there and looked at it but didn't go near it because they figured they might get bit. It was a good-sized monkey."

Now I see a monkey every time I look in a mirror but I wasn't out in Cottage township at all that night and if it was a real monkey, which it was, where did it come from? Maybe Tarzan is in these parts and it was a companion. And I wonder what happened to it.

Did anybody lose a monkey?

I READ in Sunshine Magazine that man must be descended from some sort of animal because one half of the world goes steps and the other half pusses.

Aw, make it 49 and three-fifths per cent, please!

I ALSO READ about a quiz program with a soldier before the Mike.

"Here's your question," said the master of ceremonies. "How many successful jumps must a paratrooper make before he graduates?"

The soldier thought a moment, then gave the only possible correct answer—"All of them."

AT CARRIER MILLS, John Brewer has a Maple tree that has its second set of leaves this year. They tell me that the tree, on the east side of the Brewer home in north Carrier Mills, has been all dressed out in bright green leaves, after the original crop turned brown and fell off like on any other tree.

THERE'S ONE THING about money—it talks, but never gives itself away.

AND THEN THERE was the fellow who spent $25 on Chlorophyll tablets before he found out that people just didn't like him.

Condition of Pope Worsens

BULLETIN
VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII was reported by Vatican sources tonight to have suffered a heart attack.

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The condition of Pope Pius XII has taken a turn for the worse and the coming night will be "important" for him, unofficial Vatican sources reported today.

The sources said the stomach trouble which has forced the 78-year-old pontiff to receive nourishment indirectly became more serious during the day. They said the Pope was vomiting again.

There was no immediate official confirmation of these reports.

Earlier in the day Vatican sources said the Pope, disturbed by his cups, was having difficulty in obtaining the absolute rest ordered by his doctors.

Defense attorneys objected strenuously to Stephens' testimony and to placing the evidence of two checks and a voucher into the record. U. S. Dist. Judge Fred L. Wham ordered them into evidence when the government explained Stephens' testimony was given only to explain what was meant by the "one per cent" payoffs.

"A Lot of Nonsense"
Dale and James Bateman, pipefitters official at Murphysboro, are on trial for racketeering on a three-count indictment. One count charges them with trying to extort $1,030,000 from Ebasco Services Inc., prime contractor on the 160-million-dollar project for Electric Energy, Inc., a private power combine.

George Orick, a former editor of the magazine Engineering News-Record, testified he sought to interview Dale at a fishing shack at Olive Branch, Ill., in Oct., 1953. When he asked Dale about the rumored shakedown of Ebasco, Orick said, Dale replied: "That's a lot of nonsense."

Orick quoted Dale as saying he had been "fishing" as far as Ebasco was concerned and it would be interesting to see what he caught. Orick quoted Dale as saying if Ebasco wanted to get the impression he wanted money it was all right with him.

Turner White Jr., vice president and general manager of Electric Energy Inc., the giant utility combine which built the Joppa, Ill., plant, testified Wednesday that "it was my decision" not to pay the $1,030,000.

The government contends that failure to pay the money was followed by more than 18 months of labor unrest at Joppa. The plant supplies power to the Atomic Energy Commission plant at Paducah, Ky.

Lively Receives Life Sentence For Killing Girl

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Pint-sized Victor H. Lively was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment today for strangling a "naive country girl" in a sexual attack and stuffing her panty-clad body into a hotel room dresser drawer.

A tired jury of 11 men and one woman brought in a verdict of first degree murder while attempting to perpetrate a rape. The jury had deliberated nine hours and four minutes.

Lively, a 25-year-old Beaumont, Tex., salesman, was trembling when he was brought into the packed basement courtroom to hear Judge Saul I. Rabb sentence him to life in the Indiana State Penitentiary.

Chief Prosecutor John Daily had demanded the electric chair for Lively "so he doesn't do the same thing to any other naive little country girl."

Lively was accused of luring pretty, 18-year-old Dorothy Poore to his room in the Claypool last July by some "foul scheme" and strangling her when she refused to submit to his sexual advances.

Three days later Miss Poore's body was found stuffed in the lower dresser drawer of Lively's room.

Lively, who had registered at the hotel as "Jack O'Shea," was captured a few days later hitchhiking near St. Louis. He confessed the murder seven times, but denied all the admissions on the witness stand.

According to Lively, Miss Poore had come to his room voluntarily, drank with him, and even helped unbutton his shirt.

The state insisted that Miss Poore, a recent Clinton, Ind., high school graduate, was a virtuous girl who would never have submitted voluntarily to Lively.

Miss Poore had come to Indianapolis a few days before her death to seek a job as a secretary. Lively said he met her in a grille near his hotel and took her to be a prostitute.

She was the daughter of the late William and Elizabeth Green who came to this county from Bowling Green, Ky., as a young married couple. Mr. Green operated a store in the West End neighborhood for many years and was postmaster at County Line.

Aunt Polly recalled long wagon trips to Shawneetown to buy stock for the store and other necessities. For the past 23 years she had lived in Galatia and had been quite active until four months ago when she became bedfast.

Besides her daughter she has six grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and 14 great-great-grandchildren, three nephews and seven nieces.

Woman Expert to Give Her Views of World Affairs at Dinner Club Dec. 8

What a woman sees in Europe and what she thinks can be done by a confused world to dissipate international disagreements will form the subject of an address by Irene Walker Bowman, one of the Midwest's most widely traveled observers who will be a guest speaker of the Southern Illinois Dinner club Thursday evening, Dec. 9.

The dinner club meeting will be held at the Kurto country club and will begin at 6:30 p. m. The subject of Mrs. Bowman's address will be "A Woman's View of World Affairs." She has recently returned from another European trip during which she passed up the usual channels for obtaining information and went out in the "country" and visited with the common folks to find out how they live, what they earn, how they think, what their hopes and frustrations are.

Mrs. Bowman, who long has been a student of human relations, is a firm believer that peace can come only when people of nations and creeds understand each other better.

She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Kappa Gamma, Chi Delta Phi and numerous other national and local civic and social organizations.

Organizational reserves must be made in advance with Rees Turner, club secretary.

FBI Arrests Maunie Man for Bank Robbery

L. F. Heffington, 24, Charged with Holdup At Calvert City, Ky.

Percy Wyly II, special agent in charge of the Springfield office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, announced today that Landon F. Heffington, 24-year-old Maunie timberworker, is held in the Saline county jail on a federal complaint charging him with complicity in the Nov. 26 armed robbery of the Calvert bank at Calvert City, Ky.

Approximately $6,000 was taken from the bank by two armed men. A third man waited outside in a getaway auto, officers said.

The FBI said that Heffington was arrested yesterday afternoon at Maunie and brought here. Agents said that $448 in small bills was recovered from Heffington's trailer home at the time of his arrest.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner W. W. Darnon here, his bond was set at $10,000 and he was placed in the county jail.

The FBI announced that two others also are under arrest in connection with the same felony. They are John R. Courtney, held at Evansville, Ind., and Henry "Red" Moore, held at Paducah, Ky.

All three, agents said, are Kentuckians but that Heffington had been living at Maunie and that Courtney lived for a while at Carmi while working with Heffington in timber in White county.

The auto used in the getaway, the FBI stated, had been stolen at Paducah the night before the holdup.

State to Cut Distributive Aid to Schools Because of Lack of Funds

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Lack of money is forcing the state to scale down payments on school district claims for state distributive aid to 89 cents on a dollar.

The 1953-54 school year. Half of this amount is due to be paid in the first six months of 1955, the other half in the last six months of next year.

A check with State Auditor Orville E. Hodge's office showed the amount of the 1953-54 appropriation left will fall considerably short of paying claims in full the first half of 1955. Therefore, they will be paid at a rate of 89.4 per cent.

Whether claims are paid in full the second half of next year depends on how much money the 1955 Legislature appropriates for the two-year state bookkeeping period that starts next July 1.

Officials said the Legislature also could make a deficiency appropriation to pay back claims in full. How big an appropriation this would take could not be determined immediately.

Eight Communist Nations Agree To Create East German Army

MOSCOW (AP)—Eight Communist nations of Europe today agreed to create an East German Communist army.

They also decided to form an East European military alliance if the West rearms West Germany.

The agreement was signed by the Soviet Union and the seven Communist nations of Eastern Europe attending the Russian-sponsored European Security Conference. They are East Germany, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Communist China, which sent an observer to the four-day conference, did not sign as one of the prospective members of the East European military alliance. But Red China's delegate made it plain his government backs the plan.

Siroky in his final address to the conference warned the Western nations that ratification of the Paris-London agreements for West

Pancake Day Here Saturday

Pancake Day, an annual event in Harrisburg, will be sponsored by the Jaycees this year, and pancakes, coffee and orange juice will be served at the Cummings building, across from the postoffice, Saturday, December 4th, starting at 5:30 a. m. until 1:30 p. m.

Tickets are now on sale by all Jaycees and at Skaggs Pharmacy. A cash outlay of 50c entitles an individual to eat all the pancakes he or she can hold. A loudspeaker system will be on duty Friday night around town to remind everyone to eat breakfast downtown Saturday morning, and Jaycees will canvass the town with their tickets. Entire proceeds from the feed will go to the sadly depleted coffers of the Jaycees.

Materials for the cooking operations were donated to the Jaycees from the following firms: Harrisburg Dairy, milk and butters; Metrogas, bottle gas and grill; for cooking; Karo Syrup, pancake syrup; Old Judge Coffee Co., coffee; and Harrisburg Ice Co., orange juice.

Picked Up By City Police

Held for investigation here was a man picked up by city police early today at the Harrisburg hospital.

Personnel saw him in the lobby long after the lobby had been locked and called the police. He told police that he had lost $700 in traveler's checks.

The man, whose papers revealed he was from a southern state, was turned over to Sheriff Paul Spangler.

This morning the traveler's checks turned up. A booklet containing seven $100 traveler's checks, signed by the man were found in the hospital office of Dr. J. D. Wimpee. The office was said to have been locked up.

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Harvey H. Nooner has resigned as southern Illinois director of the insuring office of the Federal Housing Administration, a post he held since Nov. 9, 1953. Nooner announced Wednesday he was entering private business here.

Senate Rejects Motion by Bridges, 55-33

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate refused today to kill a somewhat softened version of the second censure count against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

There was no assurance, however, that this second count—involving alleged abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker—would survive in the final version of the resolution expected to be adopted later today.

The motion to kill this count outright was offered by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.). It was defeated, 55-33.

The 33 votes mustered by the McCarthy forces on the tabling motion was the high mark so far in five roll call votes taken on the censure issue.

Wednesday the Senate voted 67-20 to condemn McCarthy for being contemptuous of a Senate Elections subcommittee which investigated his financial and other activities in 1951-52. This was the first count which the censure committee had recommended.

Committee Rewrites Count
As rewritten today by the Senate's special censure committee, the second count against McCarthy stated that the Senate "disavows and condemns" McCarthy's treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker at a Senate subcommittee hearing last Feb. 18.

The original version drafted by the committee said that McCarthy's conduct toward Zwicker was "censured."

The ultimate fate of the Zwicker count was in serious doubt, however.

Sen. Wallace F. Bennett (R-Utah) of the censure committee expressed willingness to go along with Bridges' proposal.

"We are confronted with a practical situation," Bennett said. "Bennett's plan, if successful, would prevent a final Senate vote on the Zwicker count but would not for a vote on Bennett's charge that McCarthy abused the censure committee, Watkins and the Senate, itself. Bennett said he was making 'minor' changes in his amendment, which in its original form both 'censured' and 'condemned' McCarthy.

Bennett revised his original draft to take out any mention of censuring McCarthy.

He offered his amendment as a substitute for the Zwicker count immediately after Bridges' tabling motion failed.

Voting to table the second count were 29 Republicans and four Democrats. It was the first time the McCarthy forces had picked up any Democratic votes.

The tabling motion was defeated by 14 Republicans, 40 Democrats and Sen. Wayne L. Morse (Ind.-Ore.).

Expect Windup Today
Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) expected the Senate to wind up the issue late today and adjourn for the year.

Wednesday night's vote, the first such action in 25 years and only the fourth in Senate history, drove a steel wedge into the middle of Republican ranks.

The adoption of the censure committee's first count climaxed 10 days and hundreds of thousands of words of formal debate. And it quickly erased speculation on where everybody stood.

All 43 present Democrats, 23 Republicans and independent Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.) voted for it. Twenty Republicans—including GOP Senate Leader William F. Knowland—voted against.

More Breakins Are Reported
The Stain Tin shop, operated by William Stain on Sloan street, was broken into last night.

The coin box of the soft drink machine was opened and about $3 in nickels taken. Nothing else was missing.

Entrance was made through a window.

Also entered last night were three officers over the Palace Clothing House in the Seton building.

Doors were pried open to enter the Ramsey and Dennis law office, the Lindale Memorial garden office and the office of the Division of Service for Crippled Children, University of Illinois. Nothing was taken from these places.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the Brown engineering office on the same floor.

Girl, 16, Gets $16,650 for Champion Steer

CHICAGO (AP)—Shorty, the Aberdeen Angus steer that won the grand championship at the International Live Stock Exposition, sold today for $16,650, considerably less than the winning animal has brought in previous years.

The auction price meant that Shorty's owner, 16-year-old Janice Hullinger, Manly, Iowa, would be paid a total of $16,650 for the steer she raised from a calf.

Shorty weighed in for the auction at 1,110 pounds.

He was bought by Ellard Pfaltzer, Chicago commission man, for Alligauer's restaurants of Chicago. It was the eighth time in 26 years that Pfaltzer had won the bidding for the exposition's grand champion.

The reserve grand champion, exhibited by another Iowa teenager—Barbara Clausen, Spencer—brought $3 a pound. The Shorthorn steer weighed 1,150 pounds. Hi-Lo Food Stores of Chicago paid a total of $3,750 for him.

Last year's grand champion sold for a record $20,000.

Actually, Pfaltzer bought Shorty at an auction price of $14.

But when he was announced as the successful bidder, he said he had been authorized by Alligauer's to go to $15 a pound and therefore was voluntarily raising the price to that amount.

Three other duck hunters—Carl Perry, Isham Harrison and Gerald Kaehler, all of Christopher—told authorities they heard a shot and then saw the two men fall into the water as their boat capsized. The three hunters threw a life preserver to one of the men as their boat neared the spot but he sank before he could reach it. Later, the life preserver and duck decoys were found floating near the scene about one mile south of the Crab Orchard Boat Club.

Police and firemen from Herrin, Carbondale and West Frankfort joined sheriff's officers and private citizens in the dragging operations.

Good Soldier In a Bad Cause

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Secretary of State, Dulles, and UN Ambassador Lodge seemed exactly the correct note when, on the sudden death of Russia's Andrei Vishinsky, they acknowledged his great skill, his resourcefulness and his energy as an adversary.

What they said was the most any good American could fairly say of the fiery Soviet UN representative, because for more than three decades he employed his generous talents in the service of the most ruthless dictatorship the modern age has ever seen.

Intelligent enough to understand the fraudulence of Russian communism, he yet lent himself to its most brutal enterprises—presumably because he realized that to do otherwise was to sign his own death warrant.

So Vishinsky was the chief prosecutor in the great Russian purge trials of the 1930's when the late Joseph Stalin's leading competitors for power were marked for destruction in a shocking blood bath.

So Vishinsky served, too, as his country's evil instrument in the crushing of Latvian independence in 1940 and Romanian freedom in 1945.

Thereafter, he toiled ceaselessly in the United Nations to twist and distort its functions to serve Soviet ends, to use it as a sounding board for Russian propaganda, to thwart every noble aim for which it was created.

When the long record of Soviet wickedness is finally totted up, no small share of the blame will fall on the head of Vishinsky.

He knew what he was doing. Unlike many of the rigid, faceless men who serve the Communist cause, Vishinsky had a sense of humor and an obvious delight in life. That he did only magnifies the shame that history will say is his for so terrible a corruption of his abilities.

"Yes, I Did Pick Up Some Things in America—"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
White House Blames Unemployment and Dixon-Yates For Election Setback, Labor Department Looks For Democratic Cooperation.

WASHINGTON. — The White House has now received an analysis of the election returns with a breakdown as to what political issues hurt like most.

The conclusion is that what cost the most votes for the Republican party were:

No. 1, unemployment.

No. 2, the Dixon-Yates private power contract and the entire issue of public vs. private power.

The White House diagnosticians also decided that the Benson farm program had not hurt appreciably. Other Republicans, including Sen. Irving Ives of New York, who lost some farm support in upper New York State, do not agree. But anyway, that's the White House conclusion and Ike is sticking by it.

Also the President seems to be sticking by his Dixon-Yates contract for a private, government-backed steam plant to compete with the Tennessee Valley Authority. Advisers have warned that Ike's adamant position on this has cut very deep politically, but the President has been urged by New York business friends to take a stand against public power and so far hasn't deviated.

IKE'S LABOR DEPARTMENT
Upper echelons of Eisenhower's Labor Department have about concluded that it's true what they say about politics being stranger than fiction. The new Democratic Congress, they figure, will do better by them than the GOP Congress that roughed them up during the past two years.

It was Congressman Fred Busbey of Illinois, they recall, who blocked money for a desperately needed study of Oakie-Arkie migrant farm labor. Secretary of Labor Mitchell begged the Budget Bureau for this money, but from his key spot in the Appropriations committee, Busbey yelled, "Socialism!" and only the full weight of the White House and the Senate managed to reverse him to the paltry extent of $50,000. Now Busbey is defeated.

Undersecretary Arthur Larsen, a good Republican, bitterly remembers how GOP Congressmen grilled him for two solid days on the plan to liberalize unemployment insurance in order to give 4,000,000 more workers insurance benefits. The cry this time was, "a violation of state rights!"

Democrats came to Larsen's rescue and paved the way for enactment of part of the plan.

The Labor Department's big pitch this year is to cut down industrial injuries and improve workmen's compensation laws. Secretary Mitchell started on this problem a year ago and believes that public opinion is building up to prevent the nation's 2,000,000 annual accidents and 15,000 deaths estimated to cost $4,500,000,000. Mitchell points to the 44 per cent drop in the injury rate in North Carolina laundries after the safety program started there.

Real force behind this campaign is soft spoken, determined Undersecretary Larsen, who handled workmen's compensation cases in Milwaukee some years ago. A former University of Pittsburgh law dean, Larsen has written a hefty two-volume legal study of workmen's compensation and accident prevention. He's now writing a model law for the guidance of states and tells friends his heart is set on straightening out the workmen's compensation tangle before he leaves government service.

FPC FILIBUSTER

Figuring there's more than one way to skin a cat, the Federal Power Commission has found a new tactic for ducking the job of regulating natural gas prices. First, it simply refused to be bothered. But early this year the Supreme Court bowed the commission out with an opinion ordering to begin regulation.

So far, however, nothing has happened.

Though the commission is pretending to follow the court's orders, actually it's staging a filibuster just as phony as Joe McCarthy's Bethesda hospital Fifth Amendment. By making a big issue of every detail and holding hearings on a series of trivia, the commission is stalling until Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, champion of the oil and gas industry, can push a law through Congress to cut off FPC's regulating power.

Note—it was Johnson who saw to it that the FPC did not get $200,000 this summer to start fixing rates. Thanks to Johnson's meat-axing of FPC appropriations, the commission can't even begin to answer all the mail it's receiving.

Family Outgrows Trailer, Buys Bus

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The eight-member James family outgrew its old trailer but got tired of staying put. So they bought a bus and converted it for trips.

Robert F. James, a hardware store operator, bought the 33-passenger bus from a company that went out of business. He spent more than 100 hours installing bunk beds, a galley, a sink, chemical lavatory, shelves and closets.

In the rear storage compartment, James keeps the baggage, tools and four bicycles to be used for side trips.

James claims travel in the bus is much better than in a trailer, even though he averages only seven miles on a gallon of gas.

"The bus makes it a lot easier to go camping," he says, "and I'm an old camper."

So are his wife, mother-in-law, five daughters, and Mac, the dog.

Sen. McCarthy to Resume Probe Of Communism

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy will resume his investigation of communism Monday despite his censure by the Senate.

The censure does not affect McCarthy's rights and privileges as a senator nor his position as chairman of the Government Operations Committee.

McCarthy said Wednesday night he was "greatly relieved that the Senate has finally voted" on part of the censure proposals "so I can get back to work."

He said his investigating subcommittee will get back to work Monday on the problem of Communism in defense plants.

"We're getting good cooperation," from the defense plants," McCarthy said. "We've got assurances they'll get rid of Communists as soon as they plead the Fifth Amendment."

McCarthy said he didn't think the censure vote would hurt him politically because the American people knew action was being taken against him "for exposing Communists."

He said Democrats proved they "loathed McCarthy by that straight line vote" for censure.

McCarthy was asked whether he intended to change his conduct in view of the Senate vote.

"I intend to continue this fight roughly the same as in the past," he replied.

NEW 1955 MERCURY MONTEREY—Beauty and performance are combined in the completely new Mercury for 1955 through the utilization of new styling, new power plants and other mechanical improvements. A choice of two engines—one developing 188 horsepower and the other 198 horsepower—is offered. Entirely new body styling, including canted headlights, full-scope windshield and a distinctively different rear end appearance, has been combined with sparkling new interior trims and fabrics. Shown here is a 1955 Mercury Monterey hardtop coupe. The new 1955 Mercury is on display today at the Wiley Motor Company, local dealer.

New 1955 Mercurys on Display Today, With Montclair Added to Line

An entirely new automobile—the Mercury Montclair—has been added to the line of completely new Mercury cars for 1955. Making its debut in the automotive field, the Montclair joins the Monterey and the Custom series which have been strikingly restyled and re-engineered.

All the new Mercurys are on display in dealer showrooms today. They are on display locally at the Wiley Motor company, local dealer.

Mercury for 1955 includes 10 models in the three series. The wheelbase has been increased to 119 inches and exterior dimensions increased two inches in length and two inches in width. Mercurys in the Monterey and Custom series are one inch lower than previous models, while the low-silhouette Montclair is two-and-one-half inches lower. The rear tread is three inches wider and the frame is one inch closer to the ground.

Two V-8 Engines

The bold lines of the completely new bodies represent an evolution of basic Mercury styling. A full-scope windshield provides greater driving vision, and canted headlights give a forward rake to the lower, wider front end. The smooth-flowing line carries along the side to a more massive rear quarter panel with tail lamps designed to blend into the overall styling theme.

The 1955 Mercury offers two high-compression overhead valve V-8 engines to give maximum performance at low and medium speeds as well as better acceleration and passing ability.

The Montclair will feature a 198 horsepower engine with 286 pound-foot torque at 2500 rpm's and 8.5 to 1 compression ratio. The Monterey and Custom series will feature a 188 horsepower engine developing 274 pound-foot torque at 2500 rpm's and 7.6 to 1 compression ratio.

Dual Exhausts

A new four-barrel carburetor results in better breathing and improved hot and cold starting.

Dual exhausts are standard equipment on all Montclairs and Montereys, reducing back pressure and increasing top speed. A new Y-exhaust system is standard on the Custom series, where dual exhausts may be obtained as optional equipment.

The Merc-O-Matic transmission has been redeveloped to handle the considerably higher torque of the 1955 Mercury engines.

Tubeless tires are standard on all models, with a new tread design which virtually eliminates tire squeal and which improves traction.

Beautiful interior trim schemes have been created with newly developed contemporary fabrics, including a new tapestry weave nylon, a woven plastic, nylons, leathers and vinyls. All are color-matched with the brilliant array of Mercury's exterior colors.

Mercury offers a wide range of exterior colors, with a choice of 15 solid body colors and 30 attractive two-tone combinations.

The dramatically different Montclair series includes a hardtop coupe, a Sun Valley hardtop with plexiglas roof, and a convertible. In the Monterey series are a four-door sedan, a hardtop coupe and a station wagon. The Mercury series offers a hardtop coupe, a four-door sedan, a two-door sedan and a station wagon.

Santa Claus to Get Assist with Fab Box-Tops

Through the courtesy of Colgate-Palmolive Co., makers of Fab washing powder, Santa Claus gets an assist in Harrisburg this Christmas season, with the cooperation of Harrisburg homemakers.

For every four regular-size or two giant-size Fab box-tops collected before Dec. 23, a beautiful "Americana" doll will be donated to Santa Claus, Inc., for Christmas delivery. Christmas boxes have been placed in all downtown drug stores and at Excel Super Market, to receive these box-tops, and local food stores are featuring the Fab offer in their advertising this week and next.

The dolls, genuine $1.29 values, are beautifully packaged in a box which resembles a history book, and they are representing various famous women in American history.

It will be so easy for Harrisburg homemakers to help make some little girl's Christmas brighter this year, simply by depositing those Fab box-tops.

Effingham to Drill Deep Wells

EFFINGHAM, Ill. (AP)—Water consumption here is running ahead of supply by about 200,000 gallons per day as preparations are made to drill the first of two proposed deep wells.

The city water department reported consumption averages about 850,000 gallons daily and currently only 625,000 gallons are pumped from river and gravel pit sources. The city reservoir level is nearly nine feet below normal.

E. C. Baker & Sons Co. of Sigel is preparing to sink the city's first deep well. The company was awarded a $4,800 contract Tuesday night and officials said drilling will start as soon as equipment can be moved to the site.

Henry Holkenbrink of Effingham was apparent low bidder at $5,372 for well No. 2 but consulting engineers recommended that contract awarding awaits results of the first well.

The council will receive recommendations next week on awarding a contract to dredge the Little Wabash river near the city so that more water will be held back of a dam rather than running over the spillway during periods of heavy rain. The city pumps water from the Little Wabash through a pipeline to the city reservoir.

Malik Outlines Kremlin Plan For Korean Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Possibly pushed its blueprint for a Korean peace settlement before the United Nations today while the Western powers sought to frame their ideas in words that would gain support from neutralist India.

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik clearly outlined the Kremlin's three-point Korean peace program before the General Assembly's Main Political Committee late on Wednesday. It called for:

1. Renewal of the Communist-wrecked Geneva talks on Korea peace by all countries concerned in a new conference "in the nearest future," presumably for another recital of Red Chinese terms the United States and its partners refused to accept.
2. Lifting of the embargo on shipment of strategic materials to Communist China and North Korea, voted by the General Assembly in 1951 because of the aggression by those two countries against South Korea.
3. Abolishing the U. N.'s Commission for the Rehabilitation and Unification of Korea which Russia has considered illegal ever since the assembly voted its establishment in 1950.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Culley Jr.

In an impressive double ring ceremony which took place Friday, Nov. 26, at 7 p. m. in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church Miss Martha Ann Hancock, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Lyndon Myres Hancock, 205 West Church, became the bride of Harold B. Culley Jr. of West Frankfort.

Mrs. Irene Arnold, aunt of the bridegroom, was dressed in Dior blue taffeta with pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Church street. Chrysanthemums in white and fall colors decorated the dining room. Miss Carolyn Blackard, a senior at the University of Illinois, and Miss Lynda Barnes, a junior at Fairfax Hall in Virginia, served as hostesses.

The bride is a graduate of the Harrisburg Township high school where she participated in numerous extra curricular activities and attended three years at the University of Illinois where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority. The bridegroom is a lieutenant in the U. S. army and has a B. S. degree in textiles from Clemson A & M college.

U. S. to Seek Nationalist China Promise to Refrain From Provocative Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will press for a Nationalist Chinese promise to refrain from provocative attacks on Red China under the new U. S. Formosa security treaty, informed sources said today.

They reported that the United States hopes to get such a promise in the set of working rules which Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said will be worked out when the treaty becomes effective.

Dulles announced late Wednesday that the United States and Nationalist China have concluded negotiations on a mutual defense treaty and expect to sign the pact here in two or three days. Under the treaty, the United States will retaliate against Red China if the Communists attack Formosa.

While Dulles' statement did not specifically spell out the treaty's security area, it said U. S. Nationalist Chinese interests are recognized in Formosa and the Pescadores and other islands controlled by the United States in the Western Pacific.

Not Specifically Committed

The pact does not specifically commit the United States to the defense of such Nationalist-held trouble spots as Quemoy and the Tachen Islands which are very close to the Chinese mainland. Dulles said it will be up to the military — and ultimately the President — to decide whether a particular island is necessary to the defense of Formosa.

Senators generally applauded the pact and predicted it will be approved by the Senate in January. Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), chairman of the Far Eastern subcommittee, said it "puts the heat" on the Communists for the imprisonment of 13 Americans. He expressed the hope it will stabilize the situation in the Red China area. Dulles stressed that the pact is meant to be defensive. Authorities said that means the United States does not intend to let Nationalist China engage in unjustified, provocative attacks against the Red mainland and then have it insist the treaty binds the United States to action.

Expect Consultations

Dulles said the treaty provides for consultations and that these are expected to lead to a set of working rules. He said he does not expect any rash Nationalist action which would jeopardize Formosa.

The treaty itself will be similar to other pacts this country has with other nations in the Western Pacific. It will not bind the United States to automatic counterattacks against a threat to Nationalist Chinese security but instead will require that the United States consider action in accordance with its constitutional processes.

In this respect, it is different from the pre-war British-Polish pact under which Britain was committed to fight if Poland were attacked.

LONDON (AP)—Britain revealed today that she has formally warned Red China against attacks on the Nationalist-held islands off Formosa but she has urged the United States and Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek to go slow in that potentially explosive area.

HTHS Thespians Initiate Members

The Thespians, the high school dramatics club, initiated new members in a formal initiation ceremony held Dec. 1 at HTHS and in an informal initiation Nov. 22 at Karel park.

The students who were eligible to become Thespians, having gained the required points by acting in plays and going to contests, were Jane Lasersohn, Dick Childress, Dorothy Hanning, Ted Price, Dorothy Winkelman, Johnny Baker, Sharmaine Price, and Alice Ferrell.

In the formal initiation, the club officers presented the ceremony with the initiates taking the Thespian pledge. The informal initiation was in the form of a wiener roast at Karel park with the initiates serving the old members and following their orders. They also had to present stunts for the approval of the old members before being initiated. The following day at school they had to wear raincoats, boots, and signs, and had to bow before Thespian members.

Mail Box Moves 1,056 Feet in 52 Years

LEWISBURG, O. (AP)—John F. Lock has a mail box in front of his house on Rural Route 2 after trying for 52 years to get delivery service.

Lock, 74, said that during the 52 years he has been trying to have a rural route extended to where he lives he walked or drove 6,250 miles in his almost daily trips to the mail box.

Lock said the route was established in 1902 and that he had tried since to have it extended the 1,056 feet to his home.

"We felt that we should have had the extension 20 years ago but always failed in our attempt," Lock said.

Lock got action in June when he wrote his congressman, Rep. William McCulloch then wrote to the Post Office department's regional office in Cincinnati, which sent the matter to the Cincinnati district office, which investigated and approved the extension.

Bull Dogs Open Basketball Play Tomorrow Night Against Herrin

New Coach, Gene Bland, Has Tall, Inexperienced Squad

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs open their 1954-55 basketball season at Herrin tomorrow night with a squad of 14 boys and a new coach. Coach is Gene Bland, quiet and affable but able to get the boys to work for him. Bland, a veteran of several years at Cairo high school and a couple in Florida, came to Harrisburg in September, assisting in football and assuming the head coaching duties in basketball.

Following the Armistice Day football game, cage practice started and Bland was greeted by a squad that contained eight lettermen, although several of them were not blessed with experience.

During the holidays last year the varsity team was reorganized with a number of sophomore boys being brought up to the main squad, and some of these have had very little actual varsity game experience.

Have Height, Desire However, Bland has some height and desire on his squad, which are important factors in building a ball club, and he's been busy during the past three weeks with his material.

"The boys are coming around as well as anticipated," he said. "I don't expect them to set the world on fire at the outset, but they are eager beavers in practice and I look for them to get better. All the boys are trying and they definitely will show improvement as long as they try."

Last year the team had as poor a year as any Bull Dog squad, winning but four contests and being blanked in South Seven competition. This year these boys are a year older, are bigger and stronger and more experienced.

Names Four Probable Starters

A look at the roster reveals that of the 14 boys on the squad, 12 are six feet or taller. Tallest boy is Gerald Wasson, 6-4, 155-pound senior, and a fraction of an inch under his height is John Wilson, 180-pound junior. Both have been working out at the center spot with Wilson playing part of the time at forward. Bland is hoping that Wilson comes through because if he can catch fire, he will see a lot of action.

Smallest boys are Donald McGowan, 150-pound junior, and Ronnie Mitchell, 132-pound senior. Both are around 5-10.

In between are 10 boys ranging from six feet to a fraction over 6-2. Coach Bland said that four probable starters against a tall Herrin team tomorrow night are Don Price, 6-1 senior at guard; Wasson at center; Dave Harrison, 6-1 senior at forward; and Dave Anglin, 6-2 junior, at either forward or guard. Wilson, because of his height, also is scheduled to see action.

Herrin Big, Experienced

Other boys on the squad are Charles "Tony" Beal, 6-1 junior guard and forward; Charles Polk, six-foot senior guard; and Ron Williams, 6-1 guard, who with Anglin, Wilson, Harrison, Price and Wasson are letter winners. Joe Dorris, Everett Evans, McGowan and Jack Wright, up from last year's Bull Pups squad; and Hubert Foster, 6-1 senior forward; and Mitchell.

Of the entire squad, Anglin and Harrison are the most experienced players.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special to The Daily Register) — Senatorial reapportionment in the forthcoming 60th Illinois General Assembly bids to be a huge jigsaw puzzle. Vexed solons will be intent on two things, one, to carry out the purpose of the amendment approved overwhelmingly at the Nov. 2 election, and two, to make sure that a remap doesn't put them in a district where their prospects for reelection are lessened.

The new amendment sets up two forms of reapportionment, one for the Senate and the other for the House. Under it lawmakers must create 58 senatorial districts and 59 representative districts. The Senate district remapping will be on the basis of territory, the House on the basis of population. Downstate will control the Senate, and Cook county the House. At present downstate controls both branches, 32 downstate districts to 19 in Cook county.

The 58 new Senatorial districts will be formed of "contiguous and compact territory" with area the same. Under the amendment, House districts also will be formed of contiguous and compact territory but on a population basis with downstate districts bounded by county lines unless the population of a single county entitles it to more than one district. No representative district may contain less population than four fifths (118,132) of the representative ratio.

Thus the amendment leaves the question open as to boundaries of Senatorial districts whereas the amendment specifically says downstate House districts must be bounded by county lines. This means that a senatorial district could disregard county lines as long as its formation was contiguous and compact, but it could bisect a county to have it form parts of separate districts.

Quotients for senatorial districts are obtained by dividing the number of square miles in Chicago, in Cook county country towns and in downstate, by the number of senatorial districts in each of the three areas, and by dividing the state's population by 58 districts to get a House ratio of 147,664. In downstate the quotient for 34 senatorial districts is 1,617 square miles. It is less for the 24 Cook districts.

The new senatorial districts will be frozen under the amendment. On the other hand, following the 1955 redistricting, the House must redistrict in 1963, and again in 1973 and every ten years thereafter. Failure of the Legislature to redistrict next year will put it up to a commission of ten members of Republican and Democratic state committees—five from each and should this fail all would be elected at large.

Work of redistricting is expected to get started in January when the 60th Assembly convenes. Possibilities of a number of plans are being studied by Gov. William G. Stratton and his advisers, as well as by both leaders of major parties and by the lawmakers themselves. The threat that failure to enact a reapportionment plan would mean possible election at-large, is expected to spur legislators to reach agreement.

Speculation at this stage as to the physical makeup of any senatorial or representative district is still a guessing job although each of the 51 senators and each of the 153 representatives of the 60th Assembly probably has a good idea of what he would like to see enacted, as far as his own particular desires are. He or she naturally will like to see a remapping which will ensure his or her chances of reelection in the years to come.

One plan which has been in circulation since early this year and which was prepared for Sen. Robert McClary, Lake Bluff Republican, lists each of ten downstate counties as possible selections for a whole representative district. They are Lake (population 179,097); Du Page (154,599); Kane (150,388); Winnebago (150,385); Rock Island (133,558); Will (134,536); Sangamon (131,484); Peoria (174,347); Madison (182,307); St. Clair (205,995).

Chances for a new representative district each of Madison and St. Clair counties must be considered fairly good with St. Clair county retaining its identity as a whole representative district. Areas however, each may have to share a little with other counties in a senatorial district. Should St. Clair's population growth justify, the amendment eventually would allow St. Clair to comprise two representative districts.

The present 51st legislative district could be revised to increase its representation in a new senatorial district but will lose in a representative district. Its five counties — Hamilton, Johnson, Massac, Pope and Saline — may be placed in newly-formed senatorial districts, and are fairly certain of being shifted to fit in new representative districts. Rep. Paul Powell, Vienna Democrat, will have an important say in the remap of the 51st district.

The five counties in the current 51st district have a population of 75,778 (Hamilton 12,256; Johnson 8,729; Massac 13,594; Pope 5,779; and Saline 33,420). This is well below the 118,132 minimum quotient but area-wise its 1,791 square miles (Hamilton 435 square miles; Johnson 345; Massac 246; Pope 381; and Saline 33,420). This is well the 1,617 quotient that the district could be left alone or the counties could be shifted to other districts.

Under the McClary plan which is really only a memorandum to provide a basis from which the Assembly could start, counties in the 51st district would be separated with Massac, Johnson, and Pope being placed in one new senatorial district and Saline and Hamilton going into another new district. It also suggests a shuffling of the counties in setting up new representative districts.

The present 48th legislative district is composed of seven counties. It has a population of 103,666 and an area of 2,274 square miles. Counties in the 48th together with population and area figures in parenthesis are as follows: Crawford (442 square miles and 21,137 in population); Edwards (225 and 9,056); Gallatin (328 and 9,818); Hardin (183 and 7,530); Lawrence (374 and 20,539); Wabash (221 and 14,651); and White (501 and 20,935).

The 48th's population is below the required minimum quotient for a new representative district so it is certain to see some shifting of its counties. Area-wise however, its square mile total exceeds the ratio of 1,617 miles and the remapping should result in an increased representation of each county in new senatorial districts. Here is how the McClary plan would set up 51st and 48th legislative districts in new senatorial and representative districts:

51st: Senatorial — Hamilton and Saline would be placed with Williamson and Franklin counties (1,382 square miles); and Massac, Johnson and Pope with Alexander and Pulaski (1,400). Representative — Massac, Johnson, Pope and Saline would be placed with Pulaski, Hardin, Williamson and Gallatin (141,130); and Hamilton would be included with Lawrence, Wabash, Edwards, White and Franklin (126,122).

48th: Senatorial — Crawford and

Leather Fashions Glow with Color

The leather look in fashion is demonstrated three ways in a greatcoat, a suit and the newly-revived motorizing coat. Greatcoat (left) is in silky tangerine leather, has sloped shoulders and narrowed top that flows into long, smooth lines. Youthful page-boy suit (center) has fitted jacket in pale pink kid leather with dyed-to-match cashmere skirt and jacket trim. Back in fashion after an absence of some 50 years is the three-quarter length motorizing coat (right). This is in Viking blue kid with oversized patch pockets, deep buttoned-back cuffs and tiny squared collar. Emphasis in resort collections is on pastel colors.

New Books are Received by Library at HTHS

The library at the Harrisburg Township high school, which is in charge of Miss Elsa M. Tyndall of Centralia, has received more than 300 new books since the beginning of school in September.

These new books are processed and made ready for circulation by the librarian and a staff of from 12 to 14 library assistants who are HTHS students. The books include fiction, biography, history, science, fine arts, and sociological and biblical literature. The library also subscribes to about 75 periodicals for the use of the students and teachers.

The library is used by some hundred students a day; and the average daily circulation of rental books is about 75 volumes.

Most of the library assistants belong to the Library club which takes part in most of the school's general activities. They contribute to the Christmas decorations, sometimes put on a program in a General Assembly, and are in charge of the concession at a football game, besides aiding the student body in many other worthy pursuits. The club also has a Christmas party, a Valentine or St. Patrick's party, and a Spring trip for educational purposes. The club meets twice a month, holding business meetings and presenting programs which include practice in library science and procedures. The members are also divided into committees which study the means of aiding the other students.

Madness In The Spring

By Elvira Densiston

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, a young man who wants to do things on his own, leaves the relative security of working for his stepfather to be the chauffeur of Wade Daggett, a well-to-do invalid. Traveling in Daggett's car and trailer, they pick up Rupert Landau, an alien, and discover he is not a country. They cannot decide what must be done about Rupert, but his half-starved condition and the hardships he has endured, win Daggett's sympathy. Next Greg meets Hannah Blake, who has been jilted and robbed. Daggett suggests she be brought to the trailer.

XVII
Greg performed the introductions and Hannah walked straight to Daggett, smiling into his eyes. After a swift and measuring glance, she did not offer to shake hands.

"Thank you," she said, "for letting me come," and Greg expelled a sigh of relief.

Daggett waved his good hand toward a seat. "We don't often have a pleasure like this," he said and for a fleeting moment the girl revealed her surprise at the deep, vital voice in such poignant contrast to the dead face. "As a matter of fact, you are the first young lady who has ever visited us. Rupert was so excited he even dusted and, to the best of my knowledge, that is a record."

"If I had seen you first, I would have got some flowers," Rupert told her mendaciously, his long narrow eyes playing over her face with subtle flattery that was his automatic response to a woman. "It is perfect as it is. I've never been in a trailer before. Do you live here too?"

Rupert gave Greg a reproachful look but there was a hint of laughter around his mouth. "So he did not tell you about me. Oh, well, I can do it myself. I'll do it much better anyhow."

What a technique, Greg thought, annoyed. He really mows them down, the poor girl will never know what hit her. But after a friendly smile, Hannah turned all her attention to Daggett. Not by a flicker of expression did she reveal anything but gratitude and friendliness.

How to Buy Lady's Gift

Gather around, gift-seeking males—a Hollywood expert on women (or at least what the women wear) is offering some welcome advice on how to buy female Christmas gifts.

Fashion director Bill Thomas, fresh from designing the wardrobe which Jane Russell wears in "Foxfire," admits that the trip to the women's counter is lined with dangerous pitfalls. But here, says he, is how to avoid them:

1. Make your choice a luxury item, but don't buy the latest or silkiest lingerie in the store. Stick to something practical. Most women prefer an item they can wear and wear, not a bit of fluff which soon will be filed and forgotten.

2. Be sure that you have the right size. Nothing takes the edge off a gift more than the need for exchanging it. Make a complete list of your wife or girl friend's sizes—dress, skirt, blouse, gloves, etc.—and keep it with you.

3. If you're buying a hat, take her along.

4. If you're shopping around for a bag, watch it to an outfit she already has. Otherwise, you may be stuck for a whole new wardrobe to go with the bag!

5. Keep the jewelry simple—pretentious stuff is taboo.

6. Before buying cosmetics, take a peek at her dressing table to ascertain her favorites. Women are fanatically loyal to particular make-up brands.

7. Remember—what looks good on the salesgirl may not look good on your wife. And no matter what you buy, throw in a bottle—however small—of milady's perfume. This will help to atone for your other mistakes.

To Select Ties Know Tastes Of Recipient

The way the story was reported here, a men's store in one large city came up with a novel Christmas plan for saving its customers' eyesight.

With every gift-tie bought by a woman, it gave away dark-lensed glasses.

It really was only a joke, of course, designed to enliven sales, but it serves to point up a point. So much fun is poked every year at color-wild, eye-stinging Christmas ties that some shoppers now shy away from the item for fear that they'll show bad taste.

In actual fact, however, the trick to selecting handsome ties is simple as simple can be, and few other gifts you can give are so sure to be needed and liked.

The trick is to know the man's wardrobe tastes, his hobbies and personality. A guy who is always conservative, for instance, may not go for gay, bold patterns, while an extrovert tends to prefer them.

Learn the color of his favorite suit. If it's blue and he wears white shirts, the choice of colors is almost limitless. But supposing his shirts are also blue, or popular pinks and grays? Then you should choose a tie that suggests these colors in dots, stripes or figures—or a solid like gray or maroon.

The brown suit calls for beiges and greens, the gray suit for charcoal, blue, red or black, with patterns in soft-spoken hues. Another popular combination is black and pink—charcoal suit with pink shirts. The ties should repeat the same colors.

For a gift that is extra-special, cater to hobbies or interests. If the man is a bowler, for instance, a tie with a tenpin motif is sure to be down his alley. Other popular motifs are skiing, tennis, baseball, fishing, hunting, boating, horses and chess.

Or have the gift individualized by getting a tie with embroidered initials—preferably below the tie's center. This indicates you gave personal attention to the selection.

But don't go forgetting your sales slips.

Now You Know
LINCOLN, Neb. —(UPI)—According to the Virginia Experiment Station, cows on a grass-legume pasture spend nine hours grazing, six hours loafing and 8 1/2 hours ruminating. The experts said 51 percent of the grazing is done at night, and 15 of the 24 hours are spent in a standing position.
